

Thread ve Child (160 int data)

Thread ve Child (80 int data)

Thread ve Child (160 int data)

The results of my experiments shown above. In all three cases in average the 'child processors was faster then the threads. For a such simple program using child processors is better than the threads.

